

Welcome!

Every summer, we take over Regent's Park for a next level food-fuelled garden party, slap bang in the centre of one of the coolest cities on earth. We're joined by 55,000 hungry Londoners, ready to devour the best food and drink in the country. So what's the deal? We round up the hottest London restaurants, hunt down the future food heroes, hit up a few chefs about to launch their next big thing, and throw a festival celebrating it all. Alongside our week-long restaurants, a line-up of Daily Specials give you the chance to sample some of the city's tastiest new concepts, popping up for one or two days only.

Site Description

All our entrances are accessible and step-free. We are working to make Taste of London as accessible as possible. However, Taste of London is an outdoor event within a park that could pose problems for mobility (particularly in wet weather). Please see images of the terrain across the site HERE

If you find queueing difficult and require a faster entry to the festival upon arrival with your personal assistant please make yourself known to a steward at the gate who will be able to direct you to our accessible queueing lane. This will also be signposted for your convenience.

Please note that there are bag searches in operation at all of our entrances.

Queues can be expected at some of our most popular restaurants throughout the event and therefore customers may extend past the ramps and marquee and guests will be asked to queue on the grass.

Food and Drink

We aim to cater for as many people as possible to ensure everyone is able to enjoy delicious food during the event. Whilst participating traders at Taste of London will make every attempt to identify ingredients that may cause the most common allergic reactions, there is always a risk of cross-contamination and those with allergies should be mindful of this.

Please have a chat with any of our restaurants and artisan producers when you drop by about the ingredients in their dishes. They will always be happy to help with any questions (and convince you into another dish or two).

Assistance Dogs

Taste of London is committed to making sure the event is as inclusive and accessible to all and we understand that some customers will rely on an assistance dog to attend our events. Taste of London can be crowded and at times loud, creating an unpleasant environment for animals. For these reasons, we do not permit our customers to bring non assistance animals with them.

Taste of London reserves the right to turn away dogs at the gate who do not comply with Assistance Dogs UK guidelines surrounding assistance dogs.

In order to ensure the smoothest entry possible, we would ask customers to contact our customer service team so that they can help facilitate your entry at the festival and provided necessary information regarding the venue.
